Lemme tell ya what I like about #stars: Yes, they sure are a sight to behold, all twinkly and sparkly in the night sky – but they are also free of charge and visible to the seeing eye even in the 'darkest' of places. Traveling the world and marveling at the many wonders of creation must be nice, but even the person who will never be able to leave their small, flat, arid town can see the stars if they look up. No matter who we are or where we are, the same stars are above us.
