

THE FRIEND PEACE SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Theodore and Mary Atherton Richards were generous benefactors of the Richards Friend Peace Scholarship Endowment Fund. Mrs. Richards left 25% of her estate to provide for the administration and continuance of the Friend Peace Scholarship. Other generous family contributions have also been received.

A more detailed description of the purposes and objectives of the Fund is found in Chapter XII of the book, Bridge Builders, written by Gwenfreed E. Allen and published by the Hawaii Conference Foundation in 1970. Copies of this book are presented to each scholarship award winner.

The Board of Trustees of the Hawaii Conference Foundation grants scholarships from the Friend Peace Scholarship Fund. Income from the Friend Peace Scholarship Fund provides scholarships and study grants that help Christian students preparing for definite Christian work. Applicants plan to cross both national and cultural lines for their planned study, which must be in a Pacific Basin country. Applicants are sought from Pacific Basin nations to study in America and its possessions or from America and its possessions to study in the Pacific Basic nations. Scholarships will be awarded for undergraduate master's degree programs. On rare occasions we may consider applications for post-master's degrees. Applicants commit to return to their country of origin upon completion of education.

There is no limit to the field of study so long as the purposes of the scholarship or grant are fulfilled. The application requires clearly defined career objectives and detailed descriptions of proposed courses of study. This must be fulfilled at an accredited institute on.

Awards are made to individuals based on ability, need, and character with first priority going to persons of definite Christian connections and experience with the United Church of Christ or its affiliated churches. The size of each award is kept to a minimum so that the recipient will be encouraged to supplement the award from other sources. Award recipients must act in the capacity of students as well as Christian witnesses while pursuing their education and promoting friendship and understanding. Awards are limited to persons of the Christian faith but there is no limit as to age, marital status, race, or sex.

The deadline for applications is April 30 of each year. The selection committee meets in August to select recipients for the following academic year. Applications are available from Hawaii Conference, 700 Bishop Street, Suite 825, Honolulu, HI 96813.

USE

All scholarship and study grants must be used for the purposes outlined above. Award recipients must act in the capacity of students as well as Christian witnesses while pursuing their education and promoting friendship and understanding.

Qualifications:

Selection is based solely on qualifications and capabilities to carry out the purposes of the Friend Peace Scholarship Fund. Awards are limited to persons of the Christian faith. There is no limit as to age, marital status, race, or sex. To provide continuity to certain theological institutions with historic ties, funding requests for students to Doshisha University, Pacific School of Religion, Malua Theological College, and Kanana Fou would receive preference over other seminaries. Where possible, preference may be given to foreign students coming to USA who are ineligible for federal student loans. High school applicants would not be funded by the program. However, programs operated by high schools which bring teachers to Hawaii may receive funding.

Field of Study:

There is no limit to the field of study so long as the purposes of the scholarship or grant are fulfilled. The application requires clearly defined career objectives and detailed descriptions of proposed courses of study. Study must be pursued at an accredited institution.

Amount of Award:

Awards for each academic year (considered to be nine consecutive months) shall be as determined by the Scholarship Committee. The studies for which the award is made must be pursued during the academic year for which the award is made. Normally, half of the Grant will be made at the start of the academic year, and the other half at the start of the second semester.

Revocation of Award:

An award may be revoked at the discretion of the Scholarship Committee for any of the following reasons: low level of scholarship performance, misconduct, withdrawal from the institution or course of study prior to the expiration of the term of the award, failure to submit any reports that may be required, and failure to fulfill any of the obligations of the award.

Applicant's Certification:

An applicant must read carefully the "applicant certification" on the application form and sign it to indicate understanding and acceptance of the responsibilities and obligations of the award and the conditions under which it may be revoked.

Medical Certificate:

A certificate prepared by a licensed physician indicating the necessary state of health must be attached to the application.

Academic Record:

An official transcript or other official evidence of academic record is required.

Recommendations:

Recommendations from two persons best qualified to judge the applicant's recent academic and extra-curricular activities will be required to be submitted separately, as will be recommendations from the applicant's pastor or minister.

Statements:

Several statements are required and are considered to be very important elements of the application, as follows:

- a. from the applicant, stating why the application is being made, academic objectives, planned courses of study and how these relate to the purposes of the Friend Peace Scholarship Fund.
- b. from the applicant, a statement of Christian commitment, connections, and experience.
- c. from the applicant, a statement of life's goal, why it was chosen, and how it relates to the purposes of the fund.
- d. from the applicant, a commitment to return to applicant's country of origin upon completion of education.
- e. For candidates under 21 years of age. From each parent, separately, describing what moral and physical (including financial) support each will give to the applicant in the program being applied for, and what reservations each has about such participation.

Inquiries - and request for application forms should be addressed to the Hawaii Conference 700 Bishop Street, Suite 825 , Honolulu, Hawaii 96813 or e-mail cnuuhiwa@hcucc.org. Other scholarship programs may also be available from the Hawaii Conference UCC and its Associations.

INSTRUCTIONS TO APPLICANTS

Applications are available from Hawaii Conference 700 Bishop Street, Suite 825, Honolulu, HI 96813 or e-mail: cnuuhiwa@hcucc.org.

The deadline for applications is April 30 of each year. The selection committee meets in July or August to select recipients for the following academic term.

1. It is the applicant's responsibility to ensure that all supplementary papers are submitted prior to the deadline.
2. Each section or question on the form must be fully completed. Wherever the space provided is insufficient, please attach supplementary sheets with your name written in the upper right-hand corner.
3. Please pay attention to the statements that are requested below. Place your name in the upper right-hand corner of all separate sheets.
 - a. Indicate on a separate piece of paper why you are applying for an award and in detail what your field of study will be if you receive an award, and how this relates to the purposes and objectives of the Friend Peace Scholarship Fund. Limit your statement to less than 500 words.
 - b. On a separate piece of paper describe your Christian commitment, connections, and experience, including Christian service you have rendered.
 - c. On a separate piece of paper, write your life's goal. Tell us why you have chosen this goal. Tell us how your goal and your work to reach your goal support the objectives of the Friend Peace Scholarship program. Tell us where you intend to pursue this life's goal.
 - d. On a separate piece of paper, from the applicant, a commitment to return to applicant's country of origin upon completion of education.
 - e. On a separate piece of paper list your participation and offices held in extracurricular activities in high school and college, such as student government, public speaking, music, publications, fraternities, sororities, athletics (list of college sports in which you have participated, indicating if you have letters, any records or athletic honors), honor societies, departmental or professional clubs, social action or study groups, Christian associations, church groups or other religious activities.
4. It is the Board of Trustees' policy that in the case of a young adult applicant, parents are the primary and responsible source for helping a student meet educational costs. The Board's intent is to use grants to help fill the gap between the student's potential resources and expenses. For those applicants dependent on their parents for financial support, we need a separate statement from each parent describing what moral and physical (including financial) support each will give to the applicant in the program being applied for, and what reservations each has about such participation.
5. Attach to the application a certificate prepared by a licensed physician indicating whether the applicant's health is adequate to complete the study that is planned.
6. Provide an official transcript of all your college and/or university work. Please request each college and/or university you have attended to send an official transcript to the Hawaii Conference.
7. Letters of recommendation from two persons best qualified to judge your recent academic and extracurricular activities are required. In addition, a letter of recommendation from the applicant's pastor or minister is also required. Please ask those persons you have listed as pastor and as academic references to send their letters by the deadline directly to:
